Sharks have been inhabitants of the ocean for a much longer span of time than the dinosaurs! There are over four hundred different species of sharks that roam around the world. Their babies are called pups.

Many of the shark species are facing danger. You can donate money to the concerned organizations to save them. You should not use plastic and help save these beautiful sharks. You can join neighborhood clean-up drives and help clean beaches and water bodies.

Once I read a story about a tiny shark, Teddy. He was hurting because one of his teeth was coming loose. His friend, Bo, calmed him down and told him about the magical powers of sharks. According to the holy book of Shark-o-Pedia, a tooth immediately grows out as the loose tooth comes off.
