

EXPLORING POINTS OF VIEW

Look at the illustration below and read the conversation between friends, Phil and Thomas, to answer the questions.

Phil: What did you say?
"Football"?

Thomas: Yes, it's called football.
Why would you call it soccer?

Phil: You're wrong. It's not football, it's soccer.

Thomas: No, you're wrong.
It's football.

They kept arguing, but they didn't know that they were both correct. In England, the game is called football. In America, it's called soccer.

Phil's Point of View

Is it football or soccer?

Thomas' Point of View

Who do you think is correct? Why?

