In a small town, little Lily woke up and found that her magical garden had lost its colors. Determined to bring back the magic, Lily set off with her crayons. She shared them with her friends and colored the world around her.

As they colored, the town transformed into a vibrant masterpiece. Lily returned to her garden, carefully coloring each flower and butterfly. Magic returned, and her garden bloomed with colors.

Lily invited her friends to a coloring party, turning the entire town into a colorful celebration. Now it's your turn.
