

WHAT IS THE AUTHOR THINKING?

Read the passage and answer the questions.

What kind of work goes into building a home? Houses are expensive. Why not build your own instead? It turns out that it is not so easy to do it yourself. You are going to need to have a lot of skills.

Math class and art class are going to be important! You will need to measure carefully and be able to work with your hands. Do you want electricity or plumbing? You'd better be ready for some engineering, science, digging, and lifting too! It sounds like this job may get dirty and dangerous.

Q1. What is the author telling us about building a house?

Q2. What evidence does the author give to support this fact?

Q3. What are the author's reasons for giving these facts?
