

Number Bonds

Count the dots on the ladybug and use them to make number bonds.

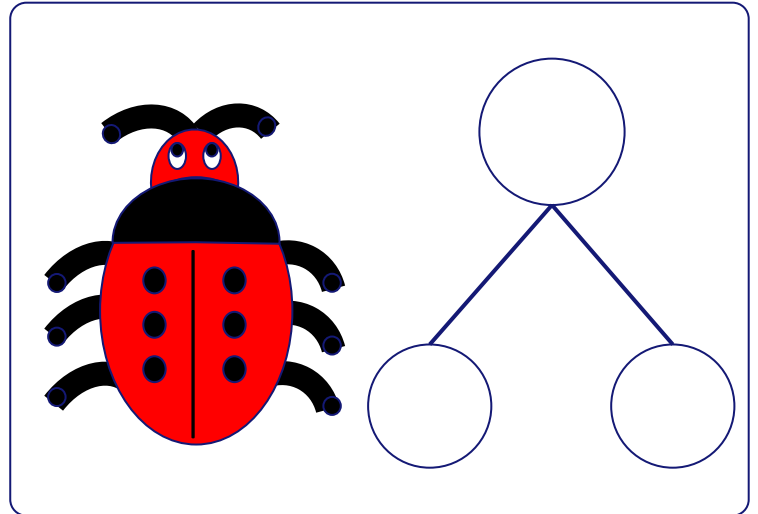

A ladybug with two black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.

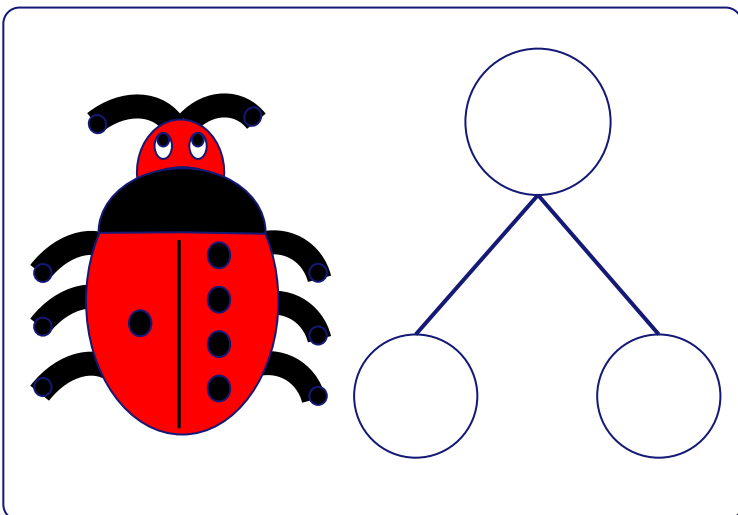

A ladybug with four black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.

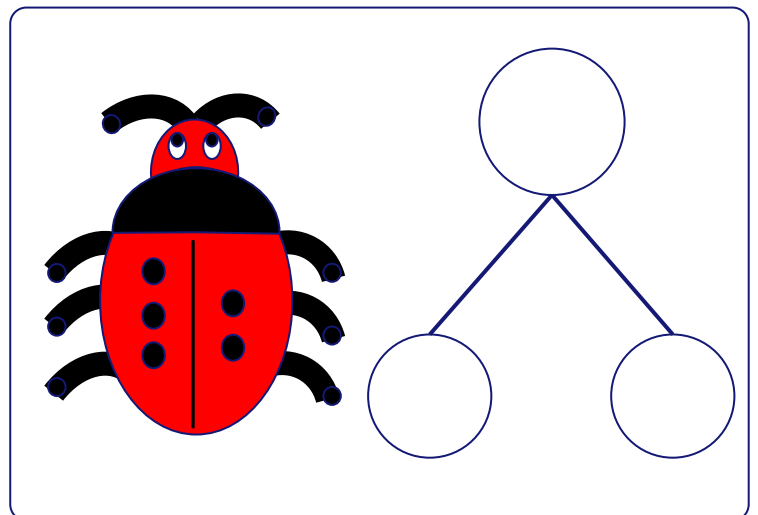

A ladybug with five black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.

A ladybug with six black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.

A ladybug with seven black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.

A ladybug with eight black dots on its red back is shown next to a number bond diagram. The diagram consists of a large empty circle at the top, connected by two lines to two smaller empty circles at the bottom.